

How heedful are you?

Welcome to this edition of your Weekly Winning Resource all about the word heedful. When you think of being heedful, what does it bring to your mind? You may think of being considerate, thoughtful, careful, or cautious. All of these are practices that would definitely describe being heedful. When you are giving your full attention to something, or being heedful, you are more focused and more capable of staying on track. Ideas and opportunities can come on very quickly, and you must pay close attention to recognize them. Heedful people are more successful than those who aren't because of this. They are fully engaged allowing them to make the most of every experience and to be clear about what they should and shouldn't do. How heedful are you?
