

How can I help you?

We can't start this edition of your Weekly Winning Resource without first wishing all of our amazing Dads out there a happy Father's Day! Great Dads can be helpful in so many ways; raising us up on their shoulders to make us feel like the king of the world, teaching us how to ride a bike, and so much more! So today, we salute these great Dads or those in our lives who were like a Dad to us, and we say thank you for being so helpful in our lives.

Speaking of helpful, this happens to be our Weekly Winning Word. Sometime in the last year, we ran across this book titled, "How may I offend you today?" Now, considering the times we live in, this name is quite hilarious to some degree, but it got us thinking. Instead of taking this snarky position as the title of this book suggests, what if we all had an intentional attitude of, "How can I help you today?" What if from the moment we head out each day, we are intentionally looking for someone we can help. Can you imagine what a different world we would live in? A world where everyone isn't rushing around, stressed about gaining more money and more fame, but simply looking for people that could use some help in some way. It just sounds impossible doesn't it? For most of us, this extreme level of service is unrealistic because of our lifestyles and responsibilities, but what if each of us simply made some sort of improved effort to be more helpful each day? This is something we all can do. Let's DECIDE today to have a "how can I help you" attitude just a little bit more, and together we can make a difference.

Your Weekly Winning Word:

Helpful:

of service or assistance; useful

Your Weekly Winning Article:

In a presentation that Father Dom gave at one of our past conferences, he shared about the burdens we all carry, large and small, and how we can help each other bear them. It fits perfectly with our topic on being helpful this week. Take the time to listen to his message here:

Your Weekly Winning Challenge:

After listening to Father Dom's presentation, think of someone you can do something helpful for without asking if they need anything, but just doing it. Share your experience in our I've Decided Community Group on Facebook here:
