

This makes decisions easier!

We hope you are enjoying celebrating independence day weekend! This week your Weekly Winning Resource is all about the word values. Are you clear on what your values are? Your values reflect what is important to the way you live and work. When you live out your values, making decisions and setting goals in your personal and professional life are much easier. At I've Decided, our purpose is to help you achieve your goals and dreams whatever they may be, so we want to encourage you to be firm in your values and know what they are. John Maxwell says, "Your core values are the deeply held beliefs that authentically describe your soul." That's really amazing when you think about your values on that level. We hope you will take some time this week to reflect on your values and the role they play with you successfully achieving your goals and dreams

Your Weekly Winning Word:

Values:

The principles and beliefs that influence your behavior and way of life.

Your Weekly Winning Challenge:

When you take the time to establish your personal core values, you can always refer to that list to know if a decision you're making will lead you to the ultimate life you want to live. Setting and achieving goals and dreams are much easier when you've set a standard to live by. In the article above, Matt gives an example list of core values. Take some time this week to create your own list of core values to live by.
